Creating CX at Scale

Scale the Client Experience with FlightDeck™

Asset managers must deliver a superior client experience in order to differentiate from the competition. But what defines a great client experience? It means being first in the door with a great presentation deck that demonstrates an understanding of your client's needs and how your solutions can help. It takes a combination of speed and customer-centricity to stand out. FlightDeck helps asset managers deliver a great customer experience at scale by enabling teams to create customer-centric presentations fast. It brings simplicity and orchestration to the pitchbook management process and allows salespeople to create custom pitch decks with ease. Give your marketing team the ability to automate pitchbook updates, control the brand, and enforce compliance and business rules, while enabling global sales across teams, time-zones, and territories. Created specifically for investment companies, FlightDeck was built to help investment management firms stay compliant while also delivering the excellent client experience that investors and advisors desire and deserve.
